Schaumburg On Stage is once again putting on their winter musical production at the Prairie Center of the Arts in Schaumburg at the end of January and first part of February.

This years offering is "The Wedding Singer" and we have planned our "girls night out" around this play. Why? Because in the past several years, we have been treated to top notch Broadway musicals at very reasonable prices, in our own backyard!

SOS uses extremely talented kids in the Northwest suburbs, and produces a flashy, toe-tapping musical that will have you smiling in your seats.

Do I know any of the kids in these productions? Not a one! But I DO know that for the past six years we have always loved the fact that Schaumburg offers the best in entertainment, that's convenient, for a fraction of the cost of going downtown.

What a great way to support your community and be entertained at the same time!
